Sewers, Schools On Agenda

Sewers and schools are expected to be the feature attraction when the annual town meeting resumes tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Auditorium.

It was anticipated that much of the 60-article regular warrant would have been completed Wednesday night after the TOWNSMAN went to press, with the revaluation item expected to evoke the most discussion at the third session.

Tonight, at a special town meeting within the annual town meeting, voters will be asked to take action on a proposed sewer moratorium, which would prohibit sewer extensions or tie-ins for a period of a few years.

Also, it is expected that Article 60, dealing with school construction will be reached by tonight. The item calls for almost $1 million in planning funds for renovation and addition to East Junior High school, and for a new auditorium and special needs classrooms to be constructed at the high school site.

A quorum of 350 voters should be attained with ease based on the two items. Contractors and real estate people are expected to debate the sewer moratorium, offered by selectmen to allow the town time to review the master plan.

And, school people will be expected to have their forces mustered for the planning funds. Former School Committeeman Frank Griggs has indicated he will move to reduce the school funds request.

White's Law Prevails Canines Will Be Leashed

Greetings From England

Greetings from Andover, England, were extended to Andover voters at town meeting Tuesday night.

Rev. Canon Iver Jeffrey-Machin and Mrs. Jeffrey-Machin, arrived in Andover Tuesday, visited with local officials during the day and viewed town meeting procedures from the stage at night.

Mrs. Jeffrey-Machin addressed the meeting following introduction by Selectman Chairman Albert Cole, Jr., and after receiving a standing ovation from the close to 900 voters present.

With her husband standing to the side of the rostrum, Mrs. Jeffrey-Machin advised the voters that they might think it unusual she was speaking rather than the "head of the household, but, in actual fact, I am the head of the house. You see I was Mayor of Andover, England and he wasn't."

She said they had often dreamed of coming to New England and to Andover and was much appreciative of the hospitality extended them on their arrival Tuesday. "We hope many of you make your way to England and visit us in Andover. A warm welcome awaits you."

As part of their visit on Tuesday, the couple was presented a Bicentennial medallion and a copy of "Andover in the American Revolution."

Andover's dogs are going to be leashed—provided the attorney general approves the action of town meeting Monday night.

By a vote of 367-274, voters approved a strict leash law proposed by Sidney P. White whose similar proposal passed a year ago but was ruled invalid by the attorney general due to insufficient warning being given voters prior to the meeting.

This year it was part of the original warrant, rather than an amendment as it was a year ago. White advertised his proposal at his own expense last year, but the attorney general felt it was insufficient warning in accordance with the statutes.

Monday night, White moved the article, spoke briefly, then thanked the voters for their consideration prior to a town meeting.

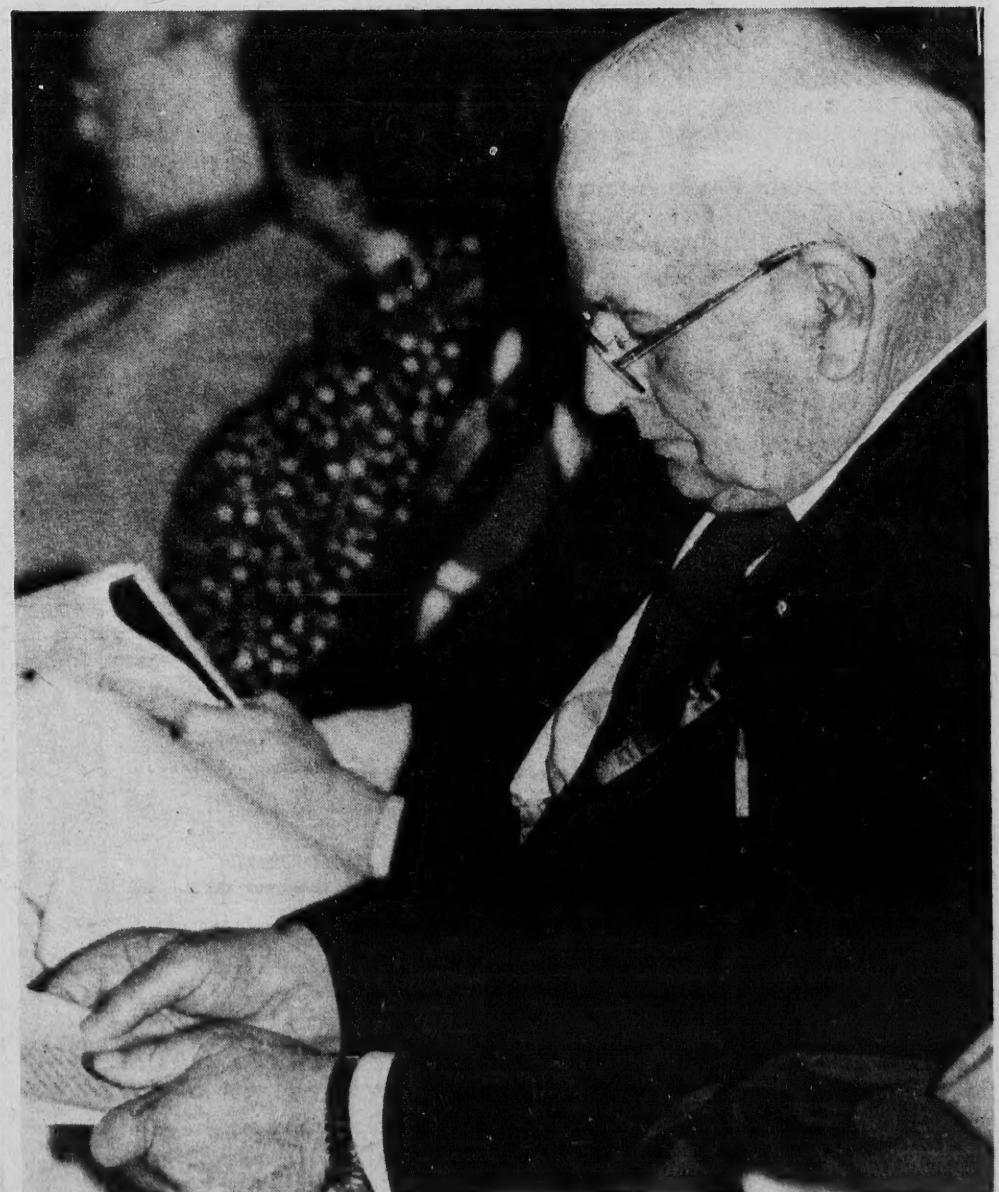

In October, Citizens For Humane Dog Control won a victory by presenting a more lenient dog control law, which has since been approved by the attorney general. Enforcement of the bylaw was initiated only recently.

At the October meeting debate was shut off after the Citizens group finished

Sidney P. White checks the vote on his dog leash law which was approved 367-274 at Monday night's town meeting. White had proposed a similar law a year ago and after approval, it was rejected by the attorney general. White's law approved Monday is more stringent than one approved in October by the town.

Dr. Glidden Is Prof Emeritus

H. Spencer Glidden, M.D., of Andover, has been granted unique dual emeritus status on the faculties of both the Tufts University School of Dental Medicine (TUSDM) and the School of Medicine (TUSM).

The distinction was announced formally April 13 at a presentation held for Dr. Glidden at TUSDM, attended by representatives of both faculties, alumni, colleagues, the student body and friend.

Presentation of the Emeritus Scroll was made by Dr. Kathryn A. McCarthy, provost and senior vice president of Tufts University. Dr. Glidden also received a slide projector, the gift of colleagues and friends, and a plaque from students.

Dr. Glidden earned his M.D. from TUSM in 1931. The following year he joined the Tufts faculty as a teaching fellow in pathology and bacteriology, serving as an instructor in those sciences for both dental and medical students. He now holds the positions of clinical professor emeritus in pathology at both the Dental and Medical schools.

Participating in the presentation event were Dr. Lauro F. Cavazos and Dr. Robert B. Shira, Deans of the Medical and Dental schools, respectively; Dr. Frank R. Susi, assistant dean at TUSDM; Dr. Martin H. Flax, chairman of the TUSM department of pathology; Dr. Edward S. Miller, president of the TUSDM Alumni Association; and Mr. Paul Silver, president of the TUSDM Class of 1978.

"If this were the Boston Celtics," Dr. Flax noted in a mixed metaphor, "we would retire Dr. Glidden's uniform and hang it from the rafters of Boston Garden."

Dr. Glidden was elected to the executive council of the TUSM Alumni Association in 1958. In 1974, the TUSDM Alumni Association presented a certificate of appreciation to Dr. Glidden as a "beloved and respected teacher of thousands, who added a superior level of excellence to their professional stature, for his leadership and achievement in dental education as well as service to Tufts University and the School of Dental Medicine."

Wallace Honored By Board

At the annual meeting of the Andover Housing Authority held on April 13, Thomas Wallace, the treasurer, was honored by the commissioners in honor of his 25 years of consecutive dedicated service as a member of the Andover Housing Authority.

Wallace was appointed a member in October 1952, to fill out the unexpired term of Ernest Hall who was appointed the executive director. He was first elected by the citizens of Andover in 1953 and has been reelected to five consecutive terms of office.

Tom has worked for the Converse Rubber Company since he was a young man. As a returning veteran of World War II, he lived in the Memorial Circle Veterans housing and immediately he became concerned over the welfare of the tenants and the need for more housing to take care of the low income families and elderly. During his term of office, he has seen three new housing projects built, totaling 176 units. After twenty-five years of concern for the project tenants he is now spearheading a drive in Andover to supply 60 more units for the elderly, who are being squeezed by economic pressures that are making it next to impossible for the elderly to pay the high rental charges in the private sector.

Opening Ceremonies Impressive

Andover's annual town meeting opened with impressive ceremonies Monday night as the close to 1,300 voters joined in the singing of "America."

Moderator James D. Doherty announced that in view of the patriotic hymn being written in Andover in what is known as the "America House," on Main street, by Samuel Francis Smith in 1881, it would be appropriate for residents to open their annual business session by singing the verses.

The audience was led by J. Everett Collins accompanied by Mrs. Maxine Calt.

The opening prayer was given by Rev. Edward G. Robinson, OSA, pastor of St. Augustine's parish.

Selectmen Edward M. Harris led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Murray Reappointed

John Murray was reappointed to a three year term as trustee of the John Cornell Wood Fund at the opening session of the annual meeting Monday.

Other formalities taken care of before delving into budgetary considerations were the establishment of salaries of the selectmen at $1,000 for the chairman and $800 each for members and a $100 salary for the moderator at the annual town meeting and $25 per special town meetings.

Recycling Auction June 10

The Andover Recycling Committee has set the date for the Fifth Annual Recycling Auction — Saturday, June 10, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. at Recreation Park, rain or shine.

The success of this auction depends upon the Spring Cleaning efforts of the townspeople. The first week of May has been declared Clean-up Week in Andover. The Recycling Committee hopes that all unwanted but usable items will not be put out for pickup during Clean-up Week, but donated to the Recycling Auction. There will be free pick-up service again of donations.

The flea market feature will be repeated this year. Individuals, groups, or craftsmen may rent tables for a modest fee and sell their own items.

An article valued over $20 may be auctioned on consignment, bringing 75% of the sold price and 25% going to the Town.

Contact auction chairman, Mrs. Lolli Sumberg for further information and flea market reservations.

All proceeds benefit the town.

Choir Contest May 13

The Andover Male Choir will host The New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs at 8 p.m., Saturday, May 13 for their 58th Annual Concert and Contest at West Junior High School.

The contest is a singing competition among groups from Athol, Beverly, Newton, Quincy and Andover. The concert is performed by the combined singing groups, under the direction of Andover's J. Everett Collins, and numbering 150 voices. The music will be a variety of popular, show and time familiar tunes.

This is the Andover Male Choir's 50th competition.

Ballardvale Library Celebrates

The Ballardvale Branch Library will celebrate its 65th birthday on Sunday, May 14. The branch first opened on May 6, 1913, with Miss Martha Byington as its first librarian. In anticipation of this event, Ruth Sharpe, current librarian, has prepared an exhibit for the main library which includes samples of flannel, pottery, brass ash trays and bottles manufactured in Ballardvale and old maps and pictures of the Vale.

Ballardvale News

Forty-six patrons participated in the Fourth Annual Mid-winter Book Poll. Fifteen of the most popular fiction and 15 of non-fiction titles were on the list. It came as no surprise that "Thorn Birds" by McCullough led in the fiction poll with "Coma" by Cook coming in second. In the non-fiction category "All Things Wise and Wonderful" by Herriot came in first with "Amityville Horror" by Anson and "Your Erroneous Zones" by Dyer tied for second place. All of these "most popular books" are still on a reserve list as they have been since the poll started in January.

Today is the last program for Littlest Listeners for the season. Beginning in September registration will be taken for the fall and winter program which will begin on Oct. 19 at 10 a.m. Children must be three years old by June 1 (birth date not later than June 1, 1975) to be eligible to join this group.

Yale Russian Chorus In Concert

Cultural Series Continues Sunday

The Yale Russian Chorus, the second concert in the Andover Cultural Series, will perform on Sunday, April 30 at 3 p.m. Series tickets which entitle participants to wine and cheese receptions after the concerts are still on sale.

The Chorus is an a cappella (without accompaniment) men's chorus composed of undergraduates, graduate students, faculty, staff and alumni of Yale University. They are drawn from a multitude of disciplines and backgrounds, but a love for music of the Soviet and Eastern European people unites them. Since 1954, the Chorus has become a widely acclaimed ensemble, performing an extensive repertoire of folk, liturgical, classical and contemporary music. They have performed throughout the United States and in almost all capitals of Europe, including six tours in the USSR. In 1962 the Chorus won first prize for male chorus at the International Choral Singing Festival in France and is not to be missed. "Everywhere it entralls its listeners with the beauty of music seldom heard by Americans."

The wine and cheese reception for series ticket holders will be sponsored by the Andover Savings Bank. Tickets can be purchased at posted locations throughout Andover and at the Recreation Community Schools office. They will also be available at the door (Cochran Chapel, P.A.)

Local Engineers Get Patent

Two local residents are among a number of Bell Laboratories scientists and engineers who have recently been granted patents by the U. S. Patent office.

C.L. Ren, 2 Pilgrim Drive, and H. C. Wang, 6 Appollo Circle, Andover, received patent number 4,077,039, entitled "Launching and/or Receiving Network for an Antenna Feedhorn." The invention is a coupling arrangement that allows microwave antenna to carry an additional band of frequencies. This provides a low cost way of appreciably increasing the number of telephone conversations, for example, that can be carried on simultaneously over an existing microwave route.

Ren, a member of the technical staff, and Wang, a technical supervisor, are members of the FM and Explorators Radio Department at the Merrimack Valley laboratory of Bell Labs, one of 15 locations in eight states.

Both Ren and Wang received their Ph.D. degree from Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn and their M.S. degree from the University of Notre Dame.

Wang received his B.S. Degree from Cheng Kung University in Taiwan, China. He and his wife, Lucille, have two children, Lillian and Austin.

Ren received his B.S. degree from Taiwan College of Engineering in Taiwan, China. He and his wife, Rosalie, have a son, Eric, and a daughter, Caroline.

Bell Labs employees have generated an average of more than one patent per working day since 1925, when the Bell System's research and development unit was formed. In 1977 alone a total of 372 patents were awarded to Bell Labs employees, bringing the 53 year total to 18,351 for the company.

Patents awarded to the entire Bell System, including AT&T, the parent company, Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit, and 23 operating telephone companies, amounted to 468 for 1977 and an all time total of 32,524 patents.

"That's why, that's my bank."

When you're ready to buy a house you need all the help you can get. That's why Charlestown Savings offers you a choice of two types of residential mortgages: FIRM & FLOAT.

FIRM is a traditional mortgage with fixed rate of interest. It's ideal for those on a fixed income.

FLOAT has an initial interest rate below the FIRM that's guaranteed for one year and reviewed semi-annually. If you think interest rates will drop, or you're not planning to stay in your home for long... the FLOAT's the mortgage for you.

People want a bank that can help them do things. That's why more people say, "That's my bank."

The fellowship, formed only a month ago on March 22, is a group of Jewish families that share a humanistic approach to Judaism. The members define Judaism as an evolving civilization, including history, peoplehood, literature, and other cultural aspects, as well as religion.

Edward Malakoff, founder of the fellowship, said the group is developing a three-tier program. First of all, the fellowship will hold religious services to celebrate the Jewish festivals and holidays.

Secondly, Jewish education classes for members' children are being planned to start this coming September.

Thirdly, the adult members will be encouraged to become part of a havurah. This is a group of roughly ten families each, that will meet monthly to discuss and explore Jewish culture, including its art, literature, philosophy, and history, as well as religious practices.

"The group is still very much in the process of forming," said Malakoff. "We hope to further define some of our goals and beliefs at the Saturday morning meeting." Anyone desiring further information can call him during the evening hours.

Living Will Forum Topic

On Sunday, April 30, the Adult Forum at Faith Lutheran Church will consider "Death Decisions and the Living Will." Dr. David Stahian will lead a discussion about the artificial prolongation of life and the living-will role of the patient in the death process.

The Adult Forum is open to the public. Meetings are held from 9:15-10:15 a.m. at the church on South Main Street in Andover, and a nursery for small children is provided.

Ready For Crafts In Park

Tropical forests (rain forests) represent 50 percent of the world's forested land; they occupy three percent of the earth's surface, Massachusetts Audubon says. They absorb and store more solar energy and dissipate more humidity than any other land cover. Cutting these forests may change global rainfall patterns to fewer but more intense rainfalls.

The first court decision that labor combinations were not illegal as long as their objectives were not harmful was Commonwealth vs. Hunt by the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts in 1842, according to "Labor Firsts in America," published by the U. S. Department of Labor.

The heaviest dog on record was a Saint Bernard in Wisconsin who at age five weighed 295 pounds.

Craftsmen Prepare Offerings

More than 150 craftsmen from six states are on the roster for the third annual Crafts In The Park, due May 13 in Central Park.

Sponsored by American Field Service and the Recreation/Community Schools department, the show will be held from 10 to 4 the day before Mother's Day. Rain date is May 14 itself.

The crafts run the gamut from silver and gold jewelry, pottery, macrame, batik, wood, leather, handknitting, weaving, scrimshaw, stained glass and toys, to some new ones including brooms, Ukrainian eggs, hammocks and homegrown herbs.

A Lawrence man, Bob Reichert, will be showing his kites in a variety of shapes, sizes and fabrics. A retired Wilmington couple will have doll houses ranging from small to large and elaborate, complete with electricity and other trappings.

Some of the popular returnees include George Nutz, the Glass Gypsy from Littleton and Gloria Goostray of Marlborough who does wildlife painting on slate.

Some of the craftsmen will be demonstrating, as well as selling their works.

The show is expected to take up most of the part this year, because of the increased number of entries and larger display spaces which will enable the crafts to be better shown and seen.

Karen VanDoren is chairman of the event for AFS, assisted by Sue Wahr, Michelle Speidel, Alice Flynn, Becky McCann, Jane Fuller, Joan Pearson, Katie Ongaro and Nine Asgeirsson.

The Andover High AFS Club will be selling refreshments throughout the day.

Proceeds will go toward international scholarships, both to bring foreign youths to Andover and to send Andover High pupils abroad.

The states represented to date include Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, Connecticut, New York and Rhode Island.

If you've been waiting to hear the title chosen to head the Haven monthly newsletter, you will be hearing very soon! The name will appear on the next issue of the newsletter due out about May first. The newsletter naming contest has brought forth so many clever, witty, charming and appropriate names, the committee has been hard put to select THE one, but they have come up with it and now all it needs is the vote of the Council on Aging and the winner and new title will be announced. Watch for news of this special event.

There are still places available if you have not yet reserved your seat on the bus taking Andover's elders for a day in historic Salem, Ma. The trip is scheduled for Thursday, May 4 and includes tours, films, lunch and the best company in the world — your fellow Andover citizens — and at a total cost of $9. So much work has been going on restoring Salem, it is bound to be a delightful experience. Call The Haven right now and let them know you want to go.

The Line Dancing Class has proven to be so popular at The Haven that it is being continued through the Spring. Open to Andover residents at no cost and non-residents for $1 per person, it meets every Tuesday afternoon at 1:30. It is fun and it's great exercise! You don't need a partner, you don't need experience — just come on down Tuesday and join the group.

The Ottawa Tulip Festival trip still has room for a few more. Leaving May 24 and returning May 27, this is a special opportunity to see the millions of tulips in bloom — a gift of the Queen of Holland to thank the people of Canada for sheltering her and her family during World War II. The travelers will stay at the Berkley Savoy Hotel and the cost includes all meals — breakfast, lunch and dinner — and for double occupancy, costs a total of $159. Stop by The Haven for more details and colorful brochures.

Remember, The Haven is your place to go if you're sixty or over. Funded by the town of Andover and located in the old theater building behind the Library on Essex Street, The Haven is open weekdays from 9 to 4. Under the auspices of The Haven there is a hot lunch program daily at West Elementary School where you may meet your friends and solve the world's problems over a delicious hot lunch that only costs you fifty cents. Skaliotis Tops Kite Flyers

Going Aloft

Eric Lanely, seven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lanely of Summer Street, gets eagle kite ready to go aloft during annual Kite Flying contest conducted Saturday at Recreation Park. Helping out is Adam Fraser, six, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fraser of Whittier street.

The Recreation/Community Schools Department's Kite Flying contest, held on Saturday, April 22 at Recreation Park Field, offered participants an opportunity to show-off their artistic and kite flying skills as well as a chance to enjoy the fabulous spring weather available this past weekend.

Kites of various shapes and colors managed to become airborne despite the sometimes inconsistent breezes.

George Skaliotis, with his home-made kite — which he made during the Storm of 78 in order to beat the boredom — proved to have the best performing flyer and walked away with awards for both the largest and highest flying kite.

Sarah Moseley put on a very agile kite flying exhibition with her dual control bow kite which she brought back with her from a recent trip to England.

James Reagan's styrofoam creation received the funniest kite award and was by far the most unusual flyer in the contest.

There were many children and adults that enjoyed themselves at the contest this past Saturday. While everyone received a participant award, there were winners in other contest categories and they were as follows:

Largest Kite — George Skaliotis.

Kite with the Longest Tail — Sarah Moseley.

Funniest Kite — James Reagan.

Best Home Made Kite — Martha Fraser.

Smallest Kite — Doub Batchelder and Dan Fraser.

Kite With Most Original Design — Dave and Adam Fraser.

Most Attractive Non-Flying Kite — Eric Lively.

Highest Flying Kites — 1st George Skaliotis; 2nd Sarah Moseley; 3rd Eric Lively (as flown by his mother); 3th Martha Fraser.

The first regional labor organization in the United States was the New England Association of Farmers, Mechanics and other Workmen, formed in 1831, according to "Labor Firsts in America," published by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Concert

The North Adams State College Chorale will appear live in concert at Merrimack College on Thursday, April 27th. All members of the outside community are cordially invited to attend this event, free of charge. Western Electric Sales, Earnings Up Against a background of dramatic and fundamental change in the telecommunications industry, Western Electric recorded its best year ever in 1977 through an effective blend of rising sales, increased productivity and stringent cost controls.

Figures released this month in the company's 1977 Annual Report show Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System and the world's largest telecommunications manufacturer, had record sales of $8.1 billion and achieved an all-time high earnings level of $490 million.

"The demand for our products and services grew, and earnings recovered dramatically from their abnormally low levels of the past two years," WE President Donald E. Procknow said in the report. "New and improved products from our factories found good acceptance from the telephone companies, and we were able to hold our overall price levels essentially stable throughout the year."

The 1977 earnings were an increase of 125 percent over the $217 million of 1976, a year in which the company was still recovering from the national economic downturn of 1975-76 which severely limited the demand for Western Electric's products. The $8.1 billion 1977 sales were an increase of $1.2 billion, or 17 percent, over the 1976 total of $6.9 billion.

Sales to Bell System companies, which accounted for 96 percent of Western Electric's business in 1977, were up by 19 percent. This increase in sales volume, along with the company's continuing emphasis on cost control, helped to offset increased operating costs which included substantial wage and benefit increases contained in three-year labor agreements effective last August.

The company's formalized engineering cost reduction plan, a program in effect for over 50 years, resulted in $215 million in savings during 1977. One of the most innovative engineering cost reductions of the year involved a new process developed by Bell Labs and Western Electric engineers for electroplating the gold contacts used in some switching equipment. This process alone is expected to save $4.4 million annually.

Western Electric's return on average investment increased to 12.9 percent in 1977, almost double the 1976 return of 6.7 percent.

The company had 161,909 employees at the end of 1977, including subsidiaries, up by almost 11,000 from 1976. In Massachusetts, Western Electric had 8,129 employees and a gross calendar payroll of $26,103,000.

During 1977 the company purchased

$3.17 billion in supplies and services from 46,000 other companies in all 50 states. Western Electric made payments of $161 million to 2300 Massachusetts suppliers in 212 cities and towns throughout the state. Of the local suppliers, 2,080 were small firms with less than 500 employees.

Today's Library - A Place For All Seasons

Editor's Note: The following essay written by Paige Whitley, 11th grade student at Andover High school, won a third prize in a statewide essay contest on "Libraries for the People, By The People," sponsored by the Governor's Conference on Libraries and Information Services. Miss Whitley received a $25 prize at State House ceremonies from Governor Michael S. Dukakis.

Just a few decades ago, the American public library was a smug impressive edifice that housed a multitude of books and scholarly patrons. From that image has grown an institution of psychedelic colors and rock music, bookmobiles and puppet shows, travel shows and busy meetings—today's library has truly become a place for all seasons and a place for all people.

This library for today's needs is a complex combination of people and ideas. First, always, are the people: readers who find a new life in books; scholars who seek wisdom in the ideas of others, librarians who collect, preserve, and locate ideas and who evolve new ideas of their own to make the ideas of others more accessible to those who need them. The ideas—the other elements in this compound—are not embodied only in type on paper but are found on film and tape and disc as well. And the computer is fast becoming as essential in today's library as the card catalog was in yesterday's.

To say that the library is reaching out is not a phrase without meaning. The library is reaching out in many ways — for those in the growing demand for media, for children now learning faster and easier through different styles, for the disadvantaged, who better themselves through the library's services, for the far-visioned who see libraries joined internationally for all mankind.

In years past, librarians were merely concerned about the breadth of library service. They broadened their collections to represent many points of view, to treat many subjects, and to suit many tastes. By means of branches and stations and bookmobiles they extended services through the community. More recently, libraries have been reaching out into the depth and height of library services as well as the breadth. They have entered the lesser known worlds of automation and new techniques. In earlier years, the mind produced the machine to serve the mind, freeing it of the monotony of repetitive tasks in its search for truth.

Here then is a library — and a staff — reaching out into the community in every conceivable manner, no longer waiting only for those who would come of their own accord, finding the real needs of the people, and satisfying those needs — with something for everyone! In meeting these needs, the library provides relief from the regular routine of the daily program. It provides the inspiration when an idea is needed. It is a first-aid station where the visitor can get sympathetic advice and direction, and when help is needed, the library is ready to offer it.

Despite radio and television, movies and comics, and other benefits of civilization, reading remains an essential part of our daily lives. We read for many reasons: for enjoyment, information, or just to pass the time away; however, the library is more than a vast storage house of print, and many patrons are now finding this out.

Film is a communicative art and as such has a legitimate and equal place with print media in library service. While some libraries with more "traditional" book-oriented patrons have yet to feel the demand for film collections, the advance of film technology and inexpensive projectors, cartridge films, and the like, will eventually create the greatest demand from this middle-class audience. We are just beginning to hear from the first generation that has grown up with television as a household necessity — and thus, to a large extent, films! Nevertheless, it is true that people who do not put a high priority on the print media because of bilingual, lack of incentive, little opportunity for formal schooling, or whatever have found film a particularly meaningful communicator for them.

The problem libraries are now working on is how to advise our new multimedia generation and our non-print public that we provide services in their fields of interest and that one of these services is film. This is true film "outreach" — not as a lever for circulation but as an end in itself.

It is often said that the love of reading is caught, not taught. Public library service to children, the major goal of which is to spread the "contagion", has been called a creative, positive, and significant profession. Continuous training, constant reading, and book selection that tries to find the best and weed out the insignificant are all directed to the end that the librarian can call on his own mind's store and bring into focus the book which will answer each child's immediate need, whether or not that need is articulate.

The library's awareness of its responsibility to serve parents and their children is clearly demonstrated. In addition to the various book services to children, libraries engage in story hours and kiddie films for preschool and younger children, and "Teen Scene" bookshelves, Young Adult Book Review Clubs, and poetry labs. It is clear that public library service to children is rewarding to the individual and valuable to society because it has depth and content and because it challenges ability.

Libraries cannot directly provide money to the poor, restore eyesight, grant new limbs or good health, restore youth to the old, cure a hereditary or incurable mental condition, change the color of a person's skin, or bring about his release from a prison or other institution of confinement. But there are a multitude of ways in which libraries can help all the above, disadvantaged in one way or another, by reorienting their thinking or by providing them tools of economic betterment. Libraries can help the elderly obtain needed information or pass their leisure hours with greater contentment; they can assist in removing language barriers, help break down racial discrimination; provide material and machinery to combat illiteracy, both total and functional; and make it easier for the physically handicapped by furnishing them material for rehabilitation and by erecting buildings the physically handicapped can easily use.

Nations today are closely interrelated, and libraries are reflecting this. Educational associations and ministries of education are supporting book publication in native languages, are making studies of library services available to schools in their countries, and are promoting national library centers to coordinate and develop programs. Libraries are reaching out to newcomers in the United States, are embracing them and their customs, while at the same time are helping them to adjust and learn.

Perhaps this trend is a foreshadowing of the future, where there will be no barriers, and all will share knowledge. Spurred on by Jussierand's admonition that "The future is not in the hands of Fate, but in ours," we must plan for the time ahead. Our successors will expect this of us as we expected it of our predecessors. And our plans should be based on the faith that together the book, the hardware, the librarian, and the reader will light up the future, as they will have illuminated the past.

Sales Up Slightly At Gillette

Sales of The Gillette Company rose slightly in the first quarter of 1978 while earnings were below the corresponding period of 1977, Colman M. Mockler, Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, told the annual meeting of Stockholders at Andover recently.

Sales for the three months ended March 31, 1978, were $398,712,000, an increase of 3% from $387,463,000 in 1977. Pretax income was $42,401,000, compared with $48,389,000 a year earlier, down 12%. Consolidated net income of $22,283,000 declined 11% from $25,071,000 in 1977. Earnings per share of $.74 compared with $.83 the prior year. First quarter earnings are not necessarily indicative of full year results.

Mr. Mockler said that sales of Gillette North America were virtually unchanged from the first quarter of 1977 but operating profits were moderately lower reflecting generally higher marketing expenditures and lower prices for Cricket disposable lighters compared with the same quarter a year earlier. Improved deodorant/antiperspirant business aided results.

Gillette International's sales were higher than last year but operating profits were level with the first quarter of 1977 due largely in inflationary cost increases in Latin America.

Sales and operating profits of the Braun group were even with the first quarter last year.

Net exchange loss in the quarter was about $6.4 million compared with $2.1 million in the first quarter of 1977. Approximately $5 million of the exchange loss results from application of the accounting standard for translation of foreign currencies as it relates to the rapid upward movement of the German mark against the United States dollar in the first fiscal quarter. Under the translation rules specified by Financial Accounting Standards Board Statement No. 8, the benefit from appreciation in value of inventories of Braun products in Germany will be recognized only in future quarters when these inventories are sold. However, other elements of the balance sheet, constituting net liabilities in the aggregate, must be translated at the higher German mark rate in effect at the end of the quarter. This accounting treatment creates the loss reported.

"Looking ahead to the remainder of 1978," Mr. Mockler said, "the Company's excellent financial condition, strong position in the marketplace and emphasis on business expansion and cost control should help to attain the Corporate goal of sustained profitable growth."

At its meeting today, the Board of Directors of The Gillette Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of $.375 per share payable June 5, 1978 to stockholders of record May 1, 1978.

"Witch" Play At Salem

High Drama prevails in the play, "Witch of Blackbird Pond," at the Peabody Museum of Salem Sunday afternoon, April 30, at 3:30.

The high-spirited orphan from the Barbados, a strait-laced Puritan community, the old widow who lives at the pond and a timid child hungry to learn; these are the ingredients of the prize-winning novel, "The Witch of Blackbird Pond," which has been dramatized and will be presented at the Peabody Museum of Salem by the Freelance Players of Jamaica Plain.

This children's acting troupe was established in 1974 with a group of actors and musicians who are dedicated to creating fine theatre for both adults and children.

Parents and children alike will fall under the spell of young Kit as she adjusts to life in her pre-revolutionary Connecticut village.

Moliere Play At Brandies

Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid" will be staged at Brandeis University's Spingold Theater May 3-13.

Moliere's comedy is one of his most famous and has enjoyed a reputation as a masterpiece since its controversial premiere in 17th century France.

Performances are May 3 at 8 p.m.; May 4-6, and 12-13, 8:30 p.m.; May 7, 7 p.m.; May 10-11, 10 a.m.

The play will be presented in a new translation by Arthur P. Chiasson of Waltham.

"The Imaginary Invalid" is Moliere's comic assault on the ignorance of the medical profession and the gullibility of patients who blindly follow their doctor's orders, even to the grave.

Earthworms are just one of hundreds of kinds of animals that burrow through the earth in a ceaseless search for food. They create a maze of passages that allow air and water to pass freely through the soil.

W.J.H. Activities

By Lauren Whitley

On April 13, West Junior High held its annual Science Fair in the school cafeteria. For many weeks before the fair the seventh and eighth grade students had been presenting the projects they had made to their classes, and the projects themselves were put on display the night of the fair. The many exhibits covered such fields as biology, chemistry and physics. The variety of demonstrations was great with projects ranging from radios and cancer, to how solar heating works. All the projects showed a great deal of time and hard work and all the W.J.H. students involved deserve a lot much credit for their efforts.

During the week of vacation the high school band went on a trip to Disney World in Florida, where they marched in the "Mickey Mouse Parade." In the high school band there are a number of students from W.J.H. who went on the trip, they are: Nina Derba, Debbie Annan, Beth Clough, Jane Dietzal, Janine Sternlieb, Gail Beardsley, Mike Mahaj, Bob McConnal, Mark Haddad, Robert Kemp, Tom White, Brenda Glynn, and Christine Howell. The students started the 27-hour bus ride on Thursday, April 13 and arrived at the Hilton West Hotel in Orlando, Florida on Friday, April 14. Among the things they attended were; Sea World, Circus World, the beach, a discotheque, and they had a pizza-pool party at the Hotel. Last but not least, they received free passes to Disney World. The students arrived back in Andover, exhausted, on Tuesday the 18th at 11:30 p.m., but they all agreed it was a most exciting trip that they thoroughly enjoyed.

On Saturday, April 29, the Senior Class will sponsor a Spring Carnival for the elementary children. The Carnival will be from 10-3 at the high school. There will be games and prizes, a dunking machine, pony rides, a haunted house and refreshments. For the adults, a car wash is planned. The proceeds of this event will go toward the Senior Class Graduation. They will pay for such costs as the speaker, Andover High Alumnus Jay Leno, and his transportation, the Class Gift and funds for the Class Reunion. Everyone is invited to this day of fun for the entire family.

Andover High has been trying out a new system in its cafeteria. Students are now given a choice of hamburgers, hot dogs, submarine sandwiches or the "regular" lunch. There is also a new snack bar which sells doughnuts, pastries, punch and other

On Committee For Flower Show

Mrs. Ralph H. Hill of Andover is chairman of the exhibition arrangers committee for "Bermuda—Another World," a preview of an international design symposium and flower show to be presented in Bermuda next February.

Four flower arrangers from The Garden Club of Bermuda will be at Pine Manor Junior College, Heath Street, Brookline, May 3 at 1:30 p.m. assorted "goodies." A salad bar will be opening as soon as the necessary equipment is delivered. The A.H.S. students all agree that they enjoy the new lunch program and do not mind paying the additional 10¢ charged for some of these meals. This project was initiated by the Senior Class and backed by Richard Barron, head of food services.

On Wednesday and Thursday, March 29 and 30, tryouts for the Andover High Dancing Warriors were held. Over 70 girls from 9-11 grades tried out for one of the eight coveted positions. They started learning the difficult routines to such songs as "rocky" and "Make Me Smile," a week earlier. That Friday, results were posted. The lucky and talented girls who had made the squad, as well as given the honor of marching with the A.H.S. Band, included: Patti O'Conner, Lisa Lauder, Pat Kelly, Annemarie Wesson, Jay Reming, Cathy Bouchard, and alternates Amy Simpson and Martha Easton. They will join Sue Denoncourt (Captain), Janice Walsh (Captain), Cathy Campbell, Jody Hildebrandt, Sue Messersmith and Karen Quinlen.

Refresher Workshop

A workshop for Parent Effectiveness Training graduates will be held on Saturday, April 29, 9 a.m.-3 p.m. at Christ Church, 25 Central St., Andover.

This is an opportunity to practice skills, discuss successes and failures and to grow even more with P.E.T. skills. Graduates of the eight-week basic course are invited, but, also, spouses and friends who are curious about the course and want more information are encouraged to attend.

The leaders for the day will be certified P.E.T. instructors, including The Rev. J. Edison Pike, Carole Trickett, Edith Mahon, and Barbara Platt. In addition, eight young people who have taken a Youth Effectiveness Training course will have a workshop.

$4-$5 Tax Hike Charted In Budget Deliberations

An operating budget in the vicinity of $22 million was expected to be the final figure approved by town meeting as it reconvened Wednesday night.

Voters working on the budget most of the time Monday night then going back to deferred items Wednesday, were charting a course which could result in a tax rate increase of $4-$5, according to Assistant Town Manager Sheldon S. Cohen.

As of Tuesday night, the budget had reached the $21,462,000 mark, with action still due on deferred items.

Actual projection of the tax rate picture is difficult at this time, due to the uncertainty of state aid. Cherry Sheet figures have not as yet been released, thus the state aid picture is not clear.

As the line items were presented Monday night there was considerable questioning of many, as the voters sought explanations of increases.

Most probing was Thayer Warshaw, who asked for explanations on most all items with the single comment, "why the increase." After the explanations, all figures as agreed upon between the Finance Committee and selectmen, were approved.

The assessors' budget was questioned at length as was the new department of inspection services and the computer or data processing account.

Following lengthy explanations, all were adopted, the assessors to receive additional professional personnel, the inspection service, or community development director position created and the data processing system to be introduced.

Moderator James D. Doherty, conducting his first town meeting, gavelled the meeting to order promptly at 7:30 p.m. Monday, when 1,297 voters were checked in during the course of the session, Tuesday night's attendance was 878.

Complete details of Wednesday and Thursday night action will be carried in next week's TOWNSMAN.

Church To Sell Properties

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover, at its annual meeting on April 23, enacted a series of measures that will provide a series of major changes as part of a plan of action developed by the church for meeting the congregational needs of the future.

The Congregation, noting that its present facility at 244 Lowell Street no longer adequately meets its needs for all of its programs, has voted to place the church site and building on the market for sale, and has directed the appointment of a special committee to study alternative sites for both transitional and permanent homes for the congregation. The building, finished in 1966, was the new building for the congregation as it moved from Lawrence (as a merger of two churches) to Andover. After that move, the Andover portion of the congregation has grown significantly, as has the North Reading participation. In areas such as Religious Education, future needs indicate that the present building would not meet the requirements of the church.

Responding to a request from the minister, the Church also voted to sell the parsonage (on Bradstreet Road, North Andover), and in the future provide a housing allowance to the minister as that may be required.

The congregation also voted a new Ministerial Leadership, with the Rev. Gayle Lehman-Becker being invited to join the Rev. Dr. Randolph Lehman-Becker in a Team Ministry to the church. That invitation, to be formalized at a May 7 Special Meeting, would extend a call to the Lehman-Beckers to be the Ministry to the church beginning August 1, 1978. Gayle Lehman-Becker has been serving as Minister to the First Universalist Church of Essex, and Minister to Teenagers at the Belmont Unitarian Church.

In other action, the Annual Meeting re-elected Dr. Joseph Schoonover of Andover, president; David Rickard of North Reading, clerk; they also elected to new positions: Sandra Padellaro of Andover, treasurer; Margaret Soli of Reading, leadership director; Marc Comstock of Andover, church family director, and Joyce Stier of Andover, as stewardship director. Dr. Lehman-Becker also assumed the duties of Director of Religious Education beginning August 1.

In commenting on the changes, Dr. Lehman-Becker, minister of the congregation said:

"Some of these changes were not easy ones to make, others were. But, taken in their totality, they speak of a willingness of the congregation to meet the challenge of the future with imagination and planning. Our commitment as a church and church family is to this area and community. We want to have a "home" within this larger community in which we can be as vital a religious group as possible."

"As well, I personally look forward to the new prospect of the Ministerial Team approach to a church. Gayle and I sense that the 1978-79 church year will be a decisive one for Unitarian Universalism in this area. We are looking forward to working together to help it happen."

"These changes, as an outgrowth of more than 5 months of intensive self-study by the congregation and Board of Directors, represent our best thinking about how both ministry and facility can combine to provide our religious approach with the support it will need to meet the growth of the future. We have come a long way from where we were when we moved to Andover — how much further we may yet go is still to be seen. Now, at least, we are moving toward that future."

Police Chief Post Stays Civil Service

The Andover police chief will remain a civil service position for a while longer at least.

Voters Tuesday night rejected a proposal which would have removed the civil service status, inserted in the warrant by the town manager and the selectmen.

But, Chief David L. Nicoll addressed the voters and asked that the position remain under civil service, and recommended further study before any decisions are made to drop the status.

Town Manager Jared S. Clark, in speaking for the removal of the post from civil service, noted that it was his intent to develop a merit plan for employees, using data from past managers and further conferences with employees.

Clark said the move was being made now in view of the impending retirement of Chief Nicoll in a year or two. The manager also noted that the police chief is the only remaining administrator under civil service.

Clark also commented on the civil service system in Massachusetts, being critical of some of its practices.

Nicoll went to the stage amid applause and was greeted with further applause when he informed the voters he would be chief of the department for 25 years in September.

"Through the grace of God I am civil service and hope to remain chief until 1980," Nicoll said.

The chief said that removal of the civil service was initiated when the legislature approved a ratio salary system for police administrators.

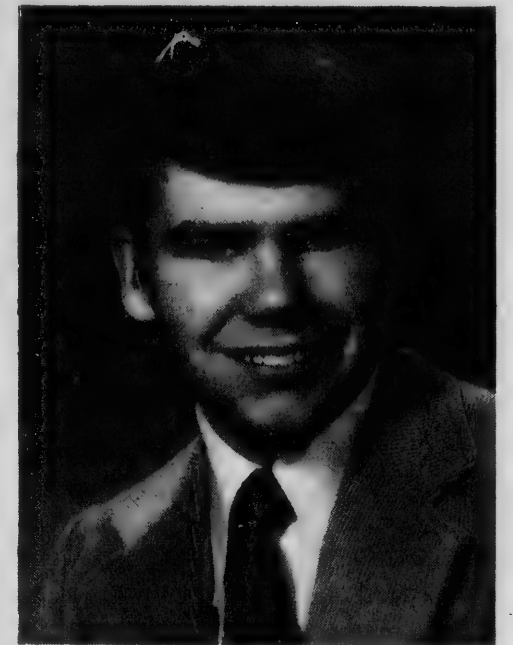

But, hiring outside administrators has not worked out, Nicoll said citing Boston as an example and Brockton where there have been seven chiefs in seven years, without Brockton civil service.

Noting that removal of civil service was among the recommendations of consultants who studied the police department a year ago, Nicoll added that this was not one of the priorities.

Nicoll also noted that within the department at the present time is a man who has an associates degree in police science, a B.S. degree and is working on his master's. Others in the department have or are working on associate degrees.

By a hand vote, the dropping of the civil service status was overwhelmingly rejected.

Also on Tuesday night, the town voted to

The Issue Of Dogs

Is the matter of how to handle dogs in Andover finally at end?

Possibly, but don't count on it.

Monday night, voters at town meeting by a vote of 367-274, accepted the new, stricter leash law, as proposed by Sidney P. White.

The approval, in a sense could be looked upon as an affirmation of a decision made a year ago at the annual town meeting.

This same law was approved then, but rejected by the attorney general, who said insufficient warning had been given to residents. White had submitted his bylaw as an amendment to one already in the warrant, and had advertised the proposal at his personal expense. But the attorney general felt adequate warning was not given, and thus held the action to be illegal.

In October White tried again, but the voters at that time shut off debate after the presentation of both his proposal and the one offered by Citizens for Humane Dog Control. The citizens group bylaw, a more lenient dog control provision, ultimately was accepted.

So what happens now that the firmer leash law provisions have been enacted by the voters?

First of all, the attorney general must rule on the action, which this time should present no problems, since it was part of the original warrant and properly advertised within the time frame prescribed.

This could take from 90 to 120 days.

Meanwhile, there is a law on the books — the one accepted last October.

Enforcement of the provisions of that bylaw should be taking place now with the appointment of a second dog officer and provisions made to obtain a second truck to assist in the work necessary.

Possibly by the time the new law becomes effective, enforcement procedures to that time, will have made it obvious that problems presented by canines will no longer be tolerated.

As mentioned Monday night, it well could be that the nuisance dogs may be in the minority.

White himself, in his conclusion asking support of his bylaw, more or less, hit on the basic problem with dogs — responsibility of owners.

"If you love your dog — take care of him!" White declared.

Therein lies the real heart of the matter.

Quite possibly the majority of dog owners in Andover maintain control of their dogs, face the responsibility of care for them and keep them within the confines of their property.

But there has been too much glaring evidence from those who do not face up to the responsibility of care for them and keep them within the confines of their property.

We would hope that through enforcement procedures initiated now and continued, the problems of ripped trash bags, messy lawns, dogs running in packs, etc., which promulgated the more stringent law, will curb the problems sufficiently.

If not, then Mr. White's law will, indeed, be a necessary forceful tool, once it is approved by the attorney general.

Lastly, we would hope that the dog problem will be missing from town meeting agendas for a while.

The Public Forum

Commendable

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

We were recently privileged to host the Andover High School Band during their visit to Central Florida and Walt Disney World.

We would like your entire community to know what fine traveling ambassadors the band members are. Their performance was superb!! Al Graceffa has done an excellent job in molding a truly professional organization.

Most impressive, however, was the way the youngsters conducted themselves while they were here. Their conduct, dress, and overall attitude of friendliness and cooperation was truly outstanding. Everyone who came in contact with them was impressed. Many hotel, restaurant, and attraction employees made it a point to tell us how much they enjoyed working with the kids. When they left the hotel in Orlando, we felt we were saying "so long" to 136 new, warm friends.

They are, indeed, a credit to their directors, their school, their parents, and the entire community. If these are examples of the leaders of tomorrow, we have no fears concerning the future of our country. The Andover High School Band is more then welcome in Central Florida at any time.

Rights Of Blind

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

The officers at the Motor Vehicle Registry tell me that everyone licensed to drive a motor vehicle in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts knows that a blind person has the right of way when crossing streets, roads and public ways of the Commonwealth. I do hope that every licensed driver does know it.

But just in case they may have forgotten, may I use your columns to remind them that whenever they see a blind person with a cane or guide dog, the law requires that they stop their vehicles to allow safe passage and avoid injury to the blind person.

The members of the Carvell Chapter for the Blind, as well as the many other unsighted residents of the Greater Lawrence area will be most grateful for this special consideration accorded them by their sighted fellow citizens.

JACK ANDERSON WITH JOE SPEAR WEEKLY SPECIAL

Cabinet Gets a Shakedown Carter's Message: Shape Up

WASHINGTON -- Last week, President Carter summoned his senior aides and Cabinet members to Camp David for consultations. Afterward, White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said: "(The president) made it damn clear that we've had 15 months now, and the shakedown cruise is over."

Other participants reported that the president scolded his subordinates in the sharpest language they ever heard him use. He told them, in effect, to shape up or ship out.

The subordinates were jolted for they had never heard Carter use harsh language. He has always been calm, cool and courteous in their presence. Only his closest intimates have seen him angry. Even then he doesn't explode but becomes ominously quiet. Aides have learned to recognize the president's angry mood by a muscle that starts twitching in his jaw.

But Carter hasn't always been so critical of his Cabinet. We've had access to secret Cabinet minutes and here's how he has handled his subordinates in the past. On Nov. 21, he said he was "pleased with the harmony that prevails among the Cabinet." On Jan. 9, the president said he was "proud of the Cabinet." On Jan. 30, he told his subordinates that he had "generated a compatibility among the strategic planners of our government unknown in former administrations."

On Feb. 27, he thanked the Cabinet "for a superb job in helping to secure congressional action" on canceling the B-1 bomber. On March 6, Carter told his Cabinet that he "continues to feel confident" about the Administration. The primary reason for his confidence, he said, "is that the Cabinet is a cohesive group whose individual and collective judgment" he trusts.

He has frequently singled out individual Cabinet members for praise. But last weekend the president used different language. He was so harsh it left the Cabinet stunned.

Population Alarm: The world's population explosion is causing grave alarm inside the White House. The National Security Council has secretly labeled runaway birth rates as "a threat to the national security." Some of our strategists believe overpopulation will soon become a greater menace than nuclear warfare.

Already, underdeveloped nations are running out of food and plunging into debt in their attempt to keep up with the burgeoning population. Yet the United States has completely botched its efforts to control the population explosion.

Our bungling bureaucrats have offended the underdeveloped nations by ignoring their religious and cultural inhibitions. Some American investigators made themselves completely unwelcome in Kenya shortly after they arrived. Egypt agreed to a birth control program, but it never got beyond the paperwork. Brazil simply ignored the U.S. efforts.

Apparently, the State Department's idea of population control is to shower underdeveloped countries with birth control devices. Each year, the foreign aid agency ships millions of prophylactics, birth control pills and other contraceptives to underdeveloped nations. The latest available statistics are for 1976 when the United States distributed $11 million worth of contraceptives and $14 million worth of pills around the world.

But the bureaucrats run into problems when they go shopping for the best buys. To get a good price, they purchase huge quantities. This creates a surplus that must be disposed of. So American embassies around the globe find themselves inundated with pills and prophylactics.

The U.S. embassy in Indonesia, for example, cabled the State Department frantically that it was surprised to learn it was getting a consignment of more than 50 million prophylactics. The embassy took a quick inventory of the birth control devices already on hand and concluded that the Indonesians already had far more than they could be expected to utilize.

However, the embassy promised it would "try to greatly expand present usage rates."

International Mystery: The defection of Arkadi Shevchenko, who was the chief Soviet diplomat at the United Nations, is developing into an international mystery. Last week he announced through his U.S. attorney that he would disobey orders to return to the Soviet Union. Yet he still hasn't sought asylum in the United States.

The story has created a furor around the world. At the United Nations, Shevchenko's fellow diplomats were shocked. But no one outside the grim little Soviet clique knew why the Kremlin tried to recall him nor why he chose to defect.

We've uncovered an important clue to the mystery. Shevchenko's 48-year-old wife, Lengina, and their teen-age daughter, Anna, were hustled out of the United States on April 9 and flown back to the Soviet Union. The women were held incommunicado at the Soviet Mission in New York City for two days before their departure. Shevchenko was unable to get through to them.

There are whispers that Shevchenko was having an extra-marital love affair. His new love, according to the rumors, caused him to defect. If the rumors are true, his family may have refused to take his calls.

But it is also possible that the Shevchenko women were returned to the Soviet Union by force. They were personally escorted to the airport by Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin. According to our sources, Dobrynin and Shevchenko were close personal friends.

We have also learned that Soviet authorities have taken pains to assure Shevchenko that his family is in no danger.

Practice Run

Dick Hoyer, Wildwood Road, warden of the AVIS Taft Reservation, and Simon Moseley, get in a practice run on the Shawsheen in preparation for the eighth annual AVIS canoe and kayak races to be held Saturday, May 6.

AVIS Canoe Race May 6

The Andover Village Improvement Society is sponsoring their eighth annual canoe and kayak race on Saturday, May 6, on the Shawsheen River in Andover. There will be events for all ages and abilities. Kayaks will form a separate category in each race.

The Beginners Race is a downstream event which will start at 10 a.m. in Ballardvale. Entrants for this race should gather at the Ballardvale site, off Dale St. just below the dam where registration will take place between 9:30 and 10 a.m.

The Intermediate Race will start at 11 o'clock at the Abbott Bridge on Central St. for a roundtrip to a halfway point to Ballardvale. Registration will be prior to 11 at the starting area.

The Open Event starts at noon at the same place. This will be a round trip to Ballardvale with registration any time before noon.

Timing of the races is intended to permit each canoe to be available for all three races.

The Shawsheen River Reservation comprises 28 acres of rural land along the west bank of the river connecting with the Vale Reservation (an additional 46 acres) to provide a continuous stretch of public land from Central St. to Ballardvale, over a mile and a half long. There is a trail along the river for walking and several bridges have recently been constructed to facilitate crossing wet areas.

The canoe races have always been a popular family event. The banks of the river provide an ideal area for picnicking and watching the energetic participants. Later many families follow the course at a slower pace for relaxation, drifting down the seemingly remote river watching for the many birds and ducks which are beginning to nest along the river's edge.

There will be trophies for each event including the fastest kayaks in the open race. For further information contact Robin Moseley or Bob James.

Over 300 In Gym Meet

The Recreation/Community Schools Department's annual elementary school gymnastics meet drew over 300 participants and almost 1,000 observers for a competition that took place on three separate evenings at the Andover High School gymnasium.

Students in grades 1-6, representing the South, Shawsheen, Bancroft, West Elementary, Sanborn, Doherty and St. Augustine's schools, competed in the rope climb, balance beam, uneven bars, rings, parallel bars, vaulting and floor exercises before appreciative crowds made up of parents, teachers and gymnastics enthusiasts.

The meet offered students, not belonging to an organized club or team, the opportunity to display the skills they have been learning at gym classes in school as well as the chance to participate in a form of official competition.

Panthers Senior Titlists

Both divisions of the Recreation/Community Schools Men's Basketball League recently completed their schedules with well played playoff series that produced one expected and one surprise play-off victor.

In the Senior Division (33 years-over), the Panthers sported a 13-1 record going into the playoffs. The team had an easy time taking the regular season championship with a well balanced offense and a aggressive defense that was constantly forcing opponents into costly turnovers. The Panthers lone defeat came at the hands of the Sweepers so it came as no surprise when the two ultimately met in the Senior Division championship round. The Sweepers defeated the Pick-ups in two straight games on their way to the finals, while the Panthers did the same to L. Mencis Realty. In the best two-of-three championship series the Panthers proved to be too much for their opponents as they took two straight victories and the playoff crown by scores of 53-50 and 60-47.

The Junior Division (Ages 19-32) league champion Sport Shop team figured to be a heavy favorite going into the playoffs. Losing only one game all season long, the club was recognized by everyone as the team to beat. In the first round, the Sports Shop ran into an inspired Shags team that was playing its best ball of the season. Shags surprised the league champs 49-48 in the opening game and came back the following week to soundly defeat the top seed by a score of 54-42. In the other half of the semi-finals, a much improved College Ice team took P.M. Cleaning to three games before finally being eliminated. College Ice took an early one game lead in the series but could not take that critical second game in order to advance to the final round.

The finals were a match up between a big and strong P.M. Cleaning squad that had lost two games all season long and a quick, fast-breaking Shags team that has two of the best shooting guards in the league. Shags took a quick one-game lead in the best of three match-up by a score of 53-45. In the second game, a determined P.M. Cleaning squad could not break the momentum of the streaking Shags. Despite a 66 point performance, P.M. Cleaning was edged out by two points as Shags went on to become the new Junior Division champion.

Planning Session For Ski Club

The Executive Board of the Merrimack Valley Ski Club met recently to map out plans for the upcoming season.

Under the leadership of Robert Gerardi, president, a large agenda was reviewed and acted upon. Several moneymakers were discussed in an attempt to provide each racer on the team with a uniform ski hat which will be issued sometime prior to the first race of the 1978-1979 season.

Also acted upon were the dates for a cake sale, a night at the theater, a June family outing and finally an early winter Ski and Skate sale.

At this work session all important Committees were filled for the upcoming season. They include the social committee, chaired by Mrs. Donigian, race chairman, Mr. Kinsella and equipment manager George Reed. Coaching duties will be handled by Al Retelle and Norm Comeau.

The coaching staff indicated the team should be strong in boys age groups next season, but that the number of girls participating in the program is somewhat disappointing. It is the hope of the coaching staff that many more potential racers sign up for next season. For further information on membership contact the membership chairperson Joanne Kinsella of Methuen.

On The Soccer Fields

by She Livermore

Many teams were short of players last weekend, presumably due to school vacations, but those that did play all exerted that extra effort and did Andover proud in and out of town. Brief results of the games follow:

Under 10

Falcons 0, Topsfield United 6

The Falcons were overwhelmed by a strong Topsfield team well coached in the techniques of passing and booting. The Falcons played well but Topsfield were not to be thwarted in their determination to win. Outstanding Booters: John Perry, Greg Harris, Matt Lavin and David Doyle.

Ravens 4, Haverhill PAL 1

The Ravens played a strong offensive game against Haverhill and much of the action took place in Haverhill's goal zone. The Ravens succeeded in scoring on four occasions and were the victors. Goals scored by Mark Neaves and Matt McKinnon. Outstanding Booters: Matt Corbett and Mike Moriarty.

Condors 4, Marblehead Wolves 3

The Condors beaten by Marblehead last week, came back stronger this week against another team from Marblehead and were the victors in a close game which saw both teams assaulting the nets on many occasions. Goals scored by Jamie O'Brien, Jeff Smith. Outstanding Booters: Matthew Shine, Dave Clark and Rick Starkweather.

Hawks 1, Swampscott Wildcats 1

The Hawks played at home against an evenly matched team from Swampscott. Chris Sapuppo scored for Andover in the first half; Swampscott evened it up shortly thereafter. Both teams made several attempts to score in the second half; all unsuccessfully. Outstanding Booters: Goalie Ronnie Peck who made some great saves and Greg Tormey.

Marblehead Headers 4, Pumas 5

The Pumas dominated the first half of the game and scored four goals against Marblehead's one. Marblehead came back much stronger in the second half and only great defensive play by Kelly Ross and goalie Penny Stark's brilliant saves kept Marblehead from scoring more than three goals. Andover booted in the extra one for the win.

Eagles 1, Marblehead Tornados 5

The Eagles journeyed to Marblehead where they faced tough competition from the Tornados. Goalie Tim Higgins' brilliant saves and great defense tactics by Robert Foley and Robert Thompson held Marblehead to a 5-1 win. Andover's penalty kick successfully completed by Richard Bordelais.

Osprey 2, Saugus Vultures 1

The first half goals by Barry Tucker and the strong defensive play of David Flanders, were the keys to the Osprey's victory over Saugus in an evenly matched, well played game. Outstanding Booters: Larry Aiello and Scott Powers.

Owls 2, Georgetown Tenderfoot 1

The Owls had to play a tight game against Georgetown and good defensive tactics were the key to their victory. Goals scored by David Eckman and Cas Kolaski. Outstanding Booters: Billy Webber and Bryan Poisson.

Under 12

Cougars 0, Lynn YSC 1

Lynn YSC were the victors in an evenly matched game which saw few goals scored but much action on the field, as both teams fought for possession of the ball. Outstanding Booters: Goalies Elaine Scanlon and Katie D'Urso, as well as Erin Sheehan, Rachel and Rebecca Healey.

Cheetahs 0, Peabody Titans 3

The Cheetahs found themselves playing defensively most of the game against a strong team from Peabody; only good defensive action and super goal tending by Aimee Ross and Patti Aldrosky kept Peabody from scoring many more goals. Outstanding Booters: Anne Murphy, Michelle Poisson, Sara Sapuppo and Jennifer Smith.

Wolves 2, Marblehead Toros 0

The Wolves took a strong offensive position against Marblehead but were unable to score any goals until the last part of the second half when John Crawford succeeded in scoring two for the win. Excellent defensive play by Dean Lockwood and David Jedrzejek prevented Marblehead from scoring.

Bears 6, Haverhill PAL 1

The Bears dominated most of the play and scored six goals; however, Haverhill came on very strong towards the end and only good goal tending by Sean Ross kept them from scoring more than one goal. Goals scored by Fran Sullivan, John Tremblay, Tom Bride and Ted McEnroe.

Outstanding Booters: Stewart Hannah and John Todt.

Bisons 3, Salem Hotshots 1

The Bisons played a stronger offensive game against Salem, which gave them the victory. Both teams made many assaults on the nets but Andover was more successful. Goals scored by Zack Apgar. Outstanding Booters: Michael Alden and Scott McNamara.

Squirrels Helpful

Squirrels not only live in forest trees, but feed upon their seeds. This is small loss to the trees, and being dropped or buried by squirrels and other animals is an important way for new seeds to get into the ground.

When it comes to getting from here to there, there's no cheaper way than in a Rabbit Diesel.

It can go a mile on only about 1¼¢ of fuel. Because diesel costs about 10¢ a gallon less than gasoline. And because a Rabbit Diesel gets 52 mpg on the highway, 39 mpg in the city.

What's more, a Rabbit Diesel gets about 550 miles to the tankful, so you probably won't even have to stop on the way to fill it up. (All figures based on Jan. '77 EPA estimates. Actual mileage may vary depending on how and where you drive, optional equipment, and your car's condition. *Prices reflect fuel costs only, at 55 cents a gallon.)

(penalty). Outstanding Booter: Shawn Abate.

Under 14

Commanches 3, Saugus Wolverines 1

The Commanches, with only 11 players, played a very spirited game against Saugus, which eventually made them the victors. Andover was awarded two penalty kicks in the first half, both completed by Eric Apgar. They scored again (Bob French) in the second half. Outstanding Booters: Goalie David Oskar who made some brilliant saves, Chris Egan, Kurt Oliver and Eric Ren.

Menominees 0, Marblehead Marines 1

The Menominees, with only ten players, played a beautiful game against Marblehead which saw few goals but much action on the field. Marblehead was awarded a penalty kick in the closing minutes of the game, which was successfully completed and made them the victors. Outstanding Booters: entire ten players.

Mohawks 5, Marblehead Minutemen 1

The Mohawks were challenged by an extremely muddy field in Marblehead; however, they quickly adjusted to the poor conditions and scored five goals for the win. Outstanding Booters: entire team.

Apaches 1, Peabody Academics 0

A goal scored by David Fredette in the final moments of the game, as well as superb goal tending by Peter Bradord (he stopped two penalty kicks!) gave the Apaches the victory in a very exciting game against Peabody. Outstanding Booters: Raymond Adams and Mike Metcalf.

Mic-Macs 0, Beverly Patriots 1

The Mic-Macs were challenged by a strong team from Beverly and only good defensive tactics, as well as some brilliant goal saves by Todd Lockwood and Kevin Hunt, held Beverly to a 1-0 win. Outstanding Booters: Alvin Ohlenbusch and Ken Saliba.

Lions 3, Swampscott Blue Angels 1

The Lions were successful in scoring three goals (Lisa Aiello and Maura Keegan) against Swampscott and great defensive play by Beth Luciano and Laurie Bordelais held Swampscott's scoring to one, giving Andover the win. Outstanding Booters: Goalies Cindy Clinton and Connie Corkery.

Under 16

Hotspurs 12, Haverhill PAL 0

The Hotspurs played a gutsy team from Haverhill who although outclassed, still fought a tough battle. Their goalie made many super saves but Andover succeeded in booting in twelve goals before the game ended. Goals scored by Dan Roberts, Bill Clarke, Brian McGettrick, Adam Roberts and Paul Hardy.

Rangers 2, Danvers S.C. 0

Within a few seconds of the start of the game, Rangers goalie Brian Butler made a beautiful save and this set the tone for the rest of the game. The Rangers played a strong offensive game, which eventually made them the victors. Outstanding Booters: Mark Mitchell, Tom Kinsky and Mark Rogers.

Under 19

Andover United 3, Swampscott Stallions 0

In a re-match against Swampscott, Andover United again demonstrated some fine soccer skills which won them the victory. Goals scored by Kim Tae, Peter Price and David Yates. Outstanding Booters: Eric Brandt, Danny Merrigan and Greg Moss.

Golden Ales 4, Peabody Rangers 3

The extra goal scored by the Golden Ales was the key to victory in a well played game against Peabody, which could have gone either way. Both teams were evenly matched and both demonstrated fine soccer skills. Outstanding Booters: Rich O'Hara, Chuck Ness, Tony Cammarata and Carl Gutermann.

Leopards 2, Topsfield Rangers 1

In a re-match with Topsfield, the Leopards played a much more skillful game and as a result, this time they were the victors. Goals scored by Leslie Perry. Outstanding Booters: Betsy Podgorski, Maureen Sheehy and Judy Carrick.

Foxfire Editor

Eliot Wigginton, editor of the popular "Foxfire" book series will be guest speaker at Old Sturbridge Village's 5th Annual Education Day Saturday. The program of workshops and discussions will center on "Doing Local History: Yours, Mine and Ours," and is directed to teachers, members of historical societies and museums and educators.

Wigginton first brought the crafts, skills and lore of the Georgia Appalachians to national recognition when, in 1972, he and his high school English students published the first "Foxfire" book. Earlier, in 1966, Wigginton had begun sending his students into the hills with tape recorders and cameras to interview their elders about the many affairs of plain living. The fourth "Foxfire" book, a direct descendant of that early project, was published in 1977. Wigginton's current students are involved in television shows, record albums and a furniture making business. Several of his students will appear with him at Old Sturbridge Village.

Two-Penny Circus

The Two Penny Circus is coming to Bradford College May 2. The family clown show is being co-sponsored by the Merrimack Valley Council on the Arts and Humanities and Bradford College.

It will be staged in Denworth Hall. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m.

The touring troupe from Plainfield, Vt., attempts to re-create the atmosphere of the old-time circus with comic dialogue and sign-gags. Seven clowns present a series of theatrical skits drawn from traditional circus acts—acrobatics, fire-eating, juggling, unicycling, magic.

The clowns have been taking their show throughout the northeast since 1973 and have also performed in Europe.

Turner Farm Proposal Rejected

Andover won't be going into the farming business.

Voters Tuesday night rejected funds for the purchase of the Turner Farm property on South Main street by a vote of 378-353.

The farm came on the market in recent months and conservation groups in the community worked on obtaining the property for conservation, recreation and continued agricultural use.

Tours of the property were conducted as late as last Sunday with close to 500 visiting the 35 acre site, but they weren't on hand Tuesday night to support the acquisition.

Presentations for obtaining the property were presented by Gayle Anderson and members of the Conservation Commission and Conservation Aide Mrs. Virginia Hammond.

The purchase price, originally $390,000 was pared down to $325,000 for the meeting and voters were told the price was still negotiable with the Turner family.

Planning board approval and split FinCom approval was accorded the article. Selectmen likewise had given approval for the acquisition, provided 50 per cent funding would come from federal or state sources.

Proponents explained that state officials had visited the site and felt it qualified for the self-help program which provides reimbursement for conservation land.

But, opponents pointed out that the assessed value of the property as listed in the town assessors records had a much lower value on the parcel.

Despite explanations that land values have increased substantially, many other speakers commented that the price still was too high.

Arthur Gonsalves of Jenkins road expressed the feeling that the town already had sufficient conservation land, totalling some 4,672 acres.

Norman Viehmann retorted that the town must protect against higher taxes and lower services through preventing development of such properties as the Turner Farm land.

Richard Asoian informed the meeting that up until ten years ago, he "tilled the soil," and has some knowledge of farming operations.

reading their proposal, and the meeting ended with the voters favoring the less stringent regulation.

Atty. Charles Rancourt who represented the citizens group, told voters Monday night that his group had continued to work with the town's administration to get enforcement procedures moving with the new bylaw. An additional dog officer and another truck are to be in service, he advised, and felt that the law on the books should be given a fair trial.

But, Monday night belonged to White, the veteran town meeting orator and retired town official.

White began by asking the close to 700 voters remaining to "act intelligently, then go home and get some rest for tomorrow night."

The dog item seemed to be the attraction for the opening night, with 1297 voters on hand at the peak of the evening, but dwindling as budget deliberations moved to after 10:30 p.m.

When a motion was made to adjourn, voters, by a 397-263 vote said they wanted to dispose of the leash law business then and there.

White commented that Dog Days generally come in the summer time, "but they are year 'round here in Andover."

Adoption of his proposal would, "hopefully correct many conditions around the town. The law passed last October leaves a lot of doubts in its language."

Viewing The Property

He questioned initially the price of the land, noting that as a lawyer he had negotiated some parcels in Andover recently selling for $4,500 to $5,000 per acre, while this parcel is going for almost $10,000 per acre.

Asoian also asked why Andover farmers were not consulted on the proposal, noting that three town operating the property as a farm, would only help "vanishing farmers, vanish even more."

Atty. John Axelrod also spoke against the purchase, stating he did not feel the proposal had been thought out sufficiently prior to presentation. Also, he said if the property is not that suitable for building throughout, then the $10,000 price was too high.

"You have read in the papers about the expense of protecting garbage and trash in Andover," White said referring to the expense of patrolling streets to keep dogs from ripping open trash bags.

The leash law proponent went on to point out that the present law prohibits a dog from roaming free when the trash collection is scheduled for the area and also when children are going to and from school.

"If you think you can get a dog to obey such a schedule that's nonsense," White said, adding that as for the trash pickup route, in some cases dogs on one side of the street are free on a particular day while canines across the street must be restrained, according to the schedule.

He felt the town would be spending a lot of money policing the law now on the books.

White also commented on the estimated dog population being 3,000 in Andover and "as of 9:25 this morning only 934 are licensed."

He concluded by admonishing, "If you love your dog—take care of him. If you love your dog, feed him and don't send him over to my garbage can."

Rancourt responded giving three reasons to defeat the article. One was the fact that the law passed in October was not approved by the attorney general until December, leaving little time to get enforcement procedures into practice, a condition recently improved with the addition of another dog officer.

Implementation of the White bylaw would be costly, probably doubling the Looking over the Turner Farm property during Sunday tour of the South Main street land, were from left, Fred Winthrop, head of the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture, Harvey Turner, Jr., and Robert Pustell, chairman of the Andover Conservation Commission.

Unlike the Monday night session most of the 878 voters signed in for the meeting remained for the Turner Farm rejection vote, then leaving as the remainder approved supplemental snow removal budgets to wind up action on a special 14-article special town meeting within the annual town meeting.

present $24,000 budget.

A leash law is not the solution to all problems, he said, noting that in communities such as North Andover and Winchester, where such a bylaw is in effect, dog bites are more numerous than those recorded in Andover.

He asked the voters for fairness in allowing the Humane Dog Law to be tested, fairness to dog owners and fairness to all residents, who would have to foot the bill for enforcement of the stricter law.

After several speakers gave pro and con arguments, Harold Rafton concluded the debate by commending White for his "tenacity in coming back with the bylaw at this session."

Rafton said the basic difference between the White law and the one approved in October was that "White's law makes a dog the responsibility of its owner. It has to be kept on the owner's premises."

"There is no reason a responsible person can't care for his own dog. Keep your dog on your property and the law has to work," Rafton said.

There was a vote to cut off debate and the vote was taken.

Rancourt said after the meeting that this probably ended the dog issue as far as he was concerned, but would watch closely the enforcement procedures and await the attorney general's ruling on White law before making a final decision.

Rancourt said that his group would still be working to see that the law on the books at present is enforced.

INGREDIENTS FOR INVESTMENT

Housing prices have gone up steeply since the mid-60's for two basic reasons. First, the shortage of new savings made it difficult to finance private housing, and the number of new housing units built each year was far below that what it should have been. Since there is a steady growth in population, this puts pressure on our housing reserves and prices rise.

Second, there have been inflationary increases in the labor and materials costs that go into building a house. In most urban areas, land values continue to go up each year, too. Historically, real estate values have always increased faster than the cost of living. Thus, it is an excellent inflation hedge.

So here are the ready-made ingredients for a good investment. We all need housing of some kind, and according to the experts, the price of housing will continue to go even higher, though perhaps, not as dramatically as in the past few years.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

join the Merrimack Valley Regional Transit Authority, thereby allowing the manager and selectmen to negotiate for continued local bus service.

Trombly Motor Coach, operators of the local service, has been running the buses on the Greater Lawrence routes in Andover since December, pending Tuesday night's vote.

The town will now be able to negotiate for continued service, plus possible adjustments in routes, with the federal and state government sharing in the cost.

There was concern expressed about possibly incurring costs such as are assessed by the MBTA, but administrators assured the voters that the Merrimack Valley authority is established under a much different system and that dropping out of the region is possible.

Also, Tuesday night, the town voted to approve acquisition of about 58 acres of land for the conservation commission in the Fish Brook watershed area.

There was objection to the increased holdings of the conservation commission based on costs for potentially undevelopable land.

Public Works Director Robert E. McQuade advised that obtaining of the land was the best protection the town could provide for the watershed area, among the options available, and the voters concurred by a majority vote.

Shawsheen water problems may be solved through the installation of new pipe in the Kenilworth, Riverina Road and William street areas for a cost of $210,000. DPW Director McQuade feels this will solve the problem of dirty water in the Shawsheen area, with cleaning of pipes in the remaining sections a cure for the condition.

Originally $1,040,000 was sought for the complete installation of new mains in the Shawsheen area.

Raytheon Income Increases

Raytheon Company today reported a 41.5 percent increase in first quarter net income on a 16.3 percent increase in sales from the first quarter of 1977.

Earnings per share rose to $1.05 a share compared with $.75 a year ago, restated for the two-for-one stock split in June 1977.

Sales, earnings and earnings per share all were the highest for any quarter in the company's history.

In the quarter ended April 2, 1978, Raytheon's net income was $32,609,000 compared with $23,038,000 a year ago. First quarter sales were $769,426,000 versus $661,596,000 in the same period last year.

Raytheon Chairman Thomas L. Phillips predicted that company operations would continue their strong performance for the remainder of the year. However, he added, the percentage gains in succeeding quarters are not anticipated to be as great as those reported in the first quarter inasmuch as the last three periods of 1977 were particularly strong.

In the quarter just ended, the gains were broadly based. The principal impetus continued to come from electronics, both government and commercial. Performance on major systems was strong.
